Principal Arguments and Other Matters

Regarding the election of species requirement, Applicants' representative pointed out that the species of Formula Ic (page 20 of the published application), where R^1 is defined as NH-peptide and R^2 is H, was elected in the paper filed on October 25, 2007. All other variables are set forth in the structure.

Results of Interview

The Examiner agreed that the response was sufficient and that it was not necessary to further define the peptide.
